EVANS-SMITH.

Stowe Girl the Bride of Middlebury Business Man.

Stowe, Aug. 24.—Miss Minnie M. Smith, daughter of Frank V. Smith of Stowe, and Fay Auld Evans of Burlington were married at the home of the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. McMahon, at 7 o'clock last evening. The ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. F. T. Crane of Unity church, took place in the living room, which was decorated with ferns, white lilies and sweet peas.

The bridal party entered the room to the strains of "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, played by Miss Ruth McMahon, accompanied by Donald M. McMahon on the violin. The bride's niece, little Miss Ramona McMahon, was flower girl and her nephew, Master Carlys McMahon, was the ring bearer. The bride wore a gown of white crepe meteor, with silk fillet lace and pearl trimmings, and a veil of white tulle draped with lilies of the valley and carried a shower bouquet.

The dining room, where refreshments were served by Misses Mildred and Inez Smith, was decorated with pink and green. Among the guests present were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Evans of Burlington, the bride's father, F. V. Smith, and grandmother, Mrs. Betsey Slayton of Waterbury and Mrs. E. M. Smith of Stowe. Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McMahon and family and the Misses Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stafford. Among the gifts were many choice pieces of silver, cut-glass, china and linen, as well as a handsome sum of money.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans left during the evening by automobile on a bridal tour. They will reside in Middlebury, where Mr. Evans is engaged in a boot and shoe business. Mrs. Evans was graduated from Stowe high school in the class of 1910 and later from the Burlington business college and has since been employed as bookkeeper and stenographer in Miles, McMahon & Son's day goods store, and has many friends in Stowe.

City Hospital Notes.

Mrs. Margaret Smith's condition was reported as a little improved this morning.

J. O. Beckley, who underwent an operation yesterday for appendicitis, is quite comfortable to-day.

Mrs. Clyde Tracy of Williamstown, who underwent an operation a few weeks ago for gall stones, continues to show steady improvement.

PLAINFIELD JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL.

Outlook Bright for Good Attendance, Reports Supt. Lance.

Since the school board of Plainfield decided to establish a junior high school, much interest seems to be manifest from all quarters for a good attendance. Superintendent W. B. Lance reports that he has made a canvass of surrounding towns and that there will be several students from Calais and East Montpelier to attend in addition to the Plainfield students.

Howard N. Hanson of Derby, has been engaged as principal. He is a graduate of Derby academy and the state agricultural college, and he will have for his assistant Miss Gladys Ballentine of Calais, who will teach the grammar grades and domestic science.

Mr. Hanson is especially trained to teach agriculture, an element that will receive more attention than ever under the new school law. He has been engaged for the full year and will remain for the summer for practical experiment work among the young people of the schools and to assist farmers in advice on scientific lines and establishing the community work which will be a feature of the junior high schools of the state.

MILITARY CAMP FOR MALES.

Advocated by Dr. J. H. Finley, with the Plattsburg Camp as Model.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 24.—A plan to have all able-bodied men spend their vacations in a military training camp, such as is being conducted here, was advocated by Dr. J. H. Finley, state commissioner of education of New York, in a statement last night. He said that it would result in great good, and he would be willing to spend his vacation that way.

"I should like to see the entire able-bodied male population conscripted for their vacation time, not for military preparedness, necessary as that may be for the time, but for physical, economic, and community preparedness, that we might the better meet together on problems of democracy," Dr. Finley said. "This is a great school of democracy, a school in economy, in self-discipline, and in co-operation. I only regret I have no vacation this year to spend here. But I already have had military training and have informed Major-General Wood of my readiness to meet the obligations of that training."

The Yale men in camp organized yesterday and adopted resolutions pledging the members to aid in promoting the movement to secure a military training for all who wish it.

A business transaction took place this morning, whereby Louis Venenute and Joseph Venenute sold the furnishings and decorations of the Star theatre in the Zanetti block to Atlio Milano, the manager of the Bijou picture house. Mr. Milano will continue the business in both places for the present, but plans are being made by him for a larger place to be built in the near future.

"Fi Fi" Advance Sale Opens. The reserved seat sale for "Fi Fi of the Toy Shop," to be given at the Barre opera house Thursday and Friday evenings, opened with a rush this morning at Drown's Drug Store and indications are that "Fi Fi" will live up to her reputation in other cities and score capacity houses at both performances.

The big audiences which have attended "Fi Fi" productions everywhere are said to have gasped with wonder and sheer delight at the fantastic doings of the dolls which are liberated from the old toy maker's shop and vie with each other in a series of adventures which carry them to the Milky Way, to a garden in fairyland and back again to earth just in time to hurry to their places in the toy shop before the first rays of the morning sun.

Of course this is all a dream—a dream which Bonnie, the toy maker's daughter, experiences when she is overtaken in the woods near her father's home and cast into a magic spell by the sandman. Bonnie is the keeper of the toys and it is the most sacred thing in the world that she should dream of them. In her sleep they come to life—bounding, exuberant, impish—and begin their revels with all the abandon of imprisoned sprites, not free from some wicked agent's thrall. The audience is transported into an ancient May house "fallen flowers are fragrant yet" and permitted to wander with Bonnie into an enchanted land, people with gingerbread dogs and gingerbread cats with tin soldiers and lovely lullaby ladies, through the Milky Way where the "dipper" is so handy you may drink from it. Then through the gardens of fairyland and back again to the toy shop as the sandman sings his tuncful lullaby and the pale rays of dawn creep over the purple hills.

The show is said to be splendidly staged, the music beautiful and brilliant and the scenes charming.

LOW WAGES CAUSE INDUSTRIAL UNREST

And Low Wages are Due to Lack of Strong Labor Organizations is Evidence Secured by Manly Investigation.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The second section of the summary of the report of Basil M. Manly, director of research and investigation of the United States commission on industrial relations, was made public to-day, as was the full text of the "Supplemental Findings and Recommendations" by Commissioner John B. Lennon and James O'Connell. The third and final section of the summary of the Manly report, which, like the two which preceded it, was prepared by George P. West, director of publicity of the commission, will be given out to-night.

The second section of the summary sketches evidence gathered to the effect that industrial unrest is caused by low wages, and that low wages are due to the lack of strong labor organizations. Many remedial measures are recommended, including equal suffrage, and various public utilities companies are condemned.

Commissioners Lennon and O'Connell in their findings take issue with the claim by Commissioners Ashton, Ballard and Weinstock that faults that may exist in trade unions can properly be considered among the causes of industrial unrest. They urge strong labor organizations as a remedy and suggest that instead of forming a new federal industrial commission, with large powers to deal with industrial unrest, that the department of labor be developed and given larger funds for carrying on its work.

BROKE HIS PAROLE.

Fred Oakley, Formerly of Claremont, to be Brought Back to Vermont.

Rutland, Aug. 24.—Sheriff E. C. Fish of West Rutland yesterday morning received a warrant from Gov. Charles W. Gates of Franklin calling for the arrest of Fred Oakley, formerly of Claremont, who was paroled from the state's prison May 13 of this year after serving part of a long term for an alleged assault. The authorities yesterday learned that the man was under arrest in New Jersey and yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Deputy Sheriff A. A. Leonard of Wallingford left for that state with the necessary papers. It is expected he will return with the prisoner to-day.

Oakley was found guilty in Rutland county court of assaulting a young girl and was sent to the state's prison in 1907 for not less than nine and not more than 10 years.

When paroled Oakley promised to report at stated periods to both Gov. Gates and Probation Officer John J. Hickey of this city, but this he has never done. This constitutes a breach of his parole and his arrest in New Jersey also constitutes cause for returning the man to prison to serve his maximum term.

Yesterday morning after Sheriff Fish received the warrant from Gov. Gates' office he summoned Deputy Leonard. In the meantime it was learned that Oakley was under arrest and would be held until to-day and Deputy Leonard arranged to leave on the afternoon train.

It is not known on what charge Oakley is being held in New Jersey, but the authorities there are willing, it is said, to surrender him to the Vermont officials.

TO AID COTTON PRODUCERS.

United States Government May Deposit $30,000,000.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Treasury officials last night made an announcement by Secretary McAdoo that, in view of the action of the allies in putting cotton on the contraband list, he would, if it became necessary, deposit $30,000,000 or more in gold in the federal reserve banks at Atlanta, Dallas and Richmond for the purpose of enabling the reserve banks to rediscount loans on cotton secured by warehouse receipts made by national banks and state banks belonging to the federal reserve system.

The gold would be deposited temporarily, at least, without interest charge. It was claimed that it appeared that the object could be accomplished with greater efficiency thereby, the deposits would be made directly with national banks agreeing to lend the money on cotton at a rate not to exceed six per cent.

Secretary McAdoo authorized the announcement from his summer home at North Haven, Me. It came at the close of a day of speculation in official circles as to the nature of steps which the executive powers have indicated they will take to uphold the cotton market in the face of their contraband order.

"In the exercise of the discretion given to him by law," said the treasury statement, "Secretary McAdoo said that the government will for the time being charge no interest on these deposits in federal reserve banks; that such action is justified by the unusual situation respecting cotton caused by the European war; that he considers it his duty to use every available means in his power to help the cotton producers of the South in the circumstances; that it is a matter of economic importance to the entire nation that these who have produced the cotton crop shall have a fair opportunity to dispose of it gradually and in an ordinary manner so they may not be forced, through inability to market their cotton gradually, to sell it at sacrifice prices.

"The secretary said that one of his chief objects was to create a basis for such enlarged credit in the South that the banks will have ample resources to extend to producers such accommodations that they will be able to carry cotton in warehouses for a reasonable length of time until it can be marketed advantageously."
